

The Experimental Social Science Laboratory (Xlab) invites you to participate in social science studies! Researchers from across campus—business, economics, psychology, and more—administer studies at Xlab that cater to all majors and need your participation. Experiments conducted at Xlab (located in S260 Haas, inside the Haas Business Library) are computerized, decision-making studies such as tasks, surveys, and games. We also offer remote online and mobile studies that can be completed anywhere. Participants earn $20/hour on average every time they participate. For more information, visit xlab.berkeley.edu!
